INTRODUCTION TO THE MARCH 2019 EDITION

This edition continues updating and rewriting the Uniform Crime Charging Templates database for the Office of the Los Angeles County District Attorney. This document adds and conforms charging templates to incorporate new and amended statutes for 2019, and revises certain templates for ease-of-use and data management purposes.

Significant additions and changes to the 2019 UCC edition include:

- New templates have been added for the following crimes:

  - Penal Code (PC) § 287 (Oral Copulation)—PC § 288a was re-codified as PC § 287.
  - PC § 29805(b) (Possession of a Firearm with a Prior Domestic Violence Misdemeanor Conviction)—new crime.
  - PC § 490.4 (Organized Retail Theft)—new crime.

  Notably, the template for PC § 32310(c) (Possession of a Large Capacity Magazine) is not included in this edition of the UCC. An appeal challenging the constitutionality of PC § 32310(c) is still pending in federal court and a preliminary injunction barring its enforcement was granted.

- Templates for certain offenses with multiple code sections have been renumbered under one code section (e.g., PC §§ 470&473(a), Form 1, is now renumbered as PC § 470, Form 1). Most of the eliminated code sections are punishment sections for the underlying offense. In order to accurately charge variations of a specific offense, the punishment sections have been reclassified as allegations. These allegations are now auto-attached to designated form numbers for the underlying offense. When a particular form number is selected, the allegations are automatically populated in the charging document, and the offense description is automatically updated to reflect the allegation. For example, VC § 23152(a) without priors is charged using VC § 23152(a), Form 0, and VC § 23152(a) with three priors is now charged using VC § 23152(a), Form 3. Using VC § 23152(a), Form 3, will automatically populate the charging document with the VC § 23550 (felony/three DUI priors) allegation, and automatically update the offense description to, "DRIVING UNDER THE INFLUENCE OF AN ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE WITHIN 10 YEARS OF THREE OTHER DUI OFFENSES." Allegation templates containing multiple code sections were not updated in this edition of the UCC, but are expected to be in future publications.

  [PIMS Use Note: After the desired form number is selected under the "Charges" tab in PIMS, the auto-attached allegation will automatically appear under the "Allegations" tab in PIMS (where variable text can be added). The allegation will NOT appear when selecting the charge.]

- Templates for certain attempted offenses were not revised and will continue to be charged as they were in prior versions of the UCC. These attempted offenses differ from other attempted offenses because punishment is not one-half the term of imprisonment prescribed for the underlying crime. Templates that remain in use include:

  - Attempted Second Degree Robbery, PC §§ 664&211, Form 1B.
  - Willful, Deliberate and Premeditated Attempted Murder, PC §§ 664&187(a), Form 22.
  - Attempted Murder of a Peace Officer, Firefighter, Custodial Officer or Custody Assistant, PC §§ 664&187(a), Forms 25A-D.
  - Attempted Extortion, PC §§ 664&518, Form 0.

[PIMS Use Note: When filing the above attempted offenses, it is not necessary to check the "attempted" box in PIMS because PC § 664 is already included in the offense.]

- Wobbler offenses are now uniformly charged as misdemeanors by marking the "17B4" box in PIMS—all misdemeanor "Form R" templates for wobbler offenses have been eliminated. The 2019 UCC designates wobbler offenses with "F/M" as the offense level (the designation is located above the degree in the hard copy of the manual). In past versions of the UCC, certain wobbler offenses were charged as misdemeanors by using Form R for the offense, while others were charged as misdemeanors by marking the "17B4" box in PIMS. Under the 2019 UCC, marking the "17B4" box is adopted as the uniform way to charge a wobbler offense as a misdemeanor.

- Firearm templates under PC § 29800, PC § 25400 and PC § 25850 have been overhauled to improve ease of use. Forms for certain offenses have been simplified to eliminate unnecessary variations. For example, although PC § 29800(a)(1) merely requires proof of one applicable prior, PC § 29800(a)(1) previously had multiple forms linked to the number of applicable prior convictions alleged. Under the 2019 UCC, PC § 29800(a)(1) has only one form, and any number of applicable priors can be alleged using that single form. Where a single offense requires multiple forms linked to different factual allegations, firearm templates were updated to include descriptions that distinguish between multiple form numbers. For example, descriptions for the six different forms of PC § 25400(a)(1) have been updated to include each corresponding condition that elevates the crime to a felony.

- Templates related to Sex Offender Registration under PC § 290 have been updated, as follows:

  - Templates include specific violation language in the pleading text.
  - Form descriptions have been modified to accurately reflect each violation.
  - Additional templates have been added to include violations of PC § 290 that were omitted in prior versions of the UCC.
  - Out-of-date templates have been expired.

- Punishment for felony offenses have been updated to reflect whether a sentence will be served in State Prison or County Jail for purposes of filing a PC § 1170 allegation (Form 0).

In addition to charging templates, the 2019 UCC contains Use Notes that provide important information and reminders for many offenses. Prior to making a charging decision, deputies are encouraged to refer to the 2019 UCC for any Use Notes. Use Notes for certain offenses are included in the hard copy version of the 2019 UCC.

The PIMS UCC Templates Database Explained

The Los Angeles County District Attorney's Office maintains a database containing information on commonly charged violations of California law. This Uniform Crime Charging (UCC) Templates database is part of the Office's case management system (CMS) named "Prosecutor's Information Management System" (PIMS). The PIMS UCC Templates database is a table which PIMS references to look up information on criminal offenses. It is maintained in Lotus Notes and can be accessed by any Office employee by clicking on the PIMS UCC Templates icon in Lotus Notes. This table of offenses is used by PIMS for a variety of purposes, but the function most familiar to deputies and clerical users is to provide the proper charge and charging language when preparing a complaint, information, or indictment. The chosen charge and charging language is used by the PIMS document generation program to create the charging document.

INTRODUCTION

Relationship of This Manual to the PIMS UCC Templates Database

This manual is meant to provide a quick reference for deputies responsible for filing charges. Only fields helpful for reviewing, filing, and rejecting cases, are replicated in this manual. The following is a list of the included fields:

- Offense or Allegation Code (e.g., "PC" or "HS")
- Offense or Allegation Section (e.g., "211" or "11370.2(a)")
- Offense Level ("F" for felony; "M" for misdemeanor; "I" for infraction, M/F for Wobbler in hard copy only)
- Punishment (time in custody; jail or prison, if felony; plus fine)
- Form Number
- Degree (where applicable)
- Effective Date
- Form Description (serves as name of crime and is inserted into pleadings)
- Pleading Text (to be inserted into a charging document)

A complete listing of all information stored in all fields for any offense can be found in the PIMS UCC Templates database in Lotus Notes. The icon appears with others on the home/workspace tab.

Current Active Charges vs. Expired Charges

Every charge in the PIMS UCC Templates database has an "Effective Date" and an "Expiration Date". Templates are never deleted when the law changes, but are expired. They remain associated with previously filed cases stored in PIMS. They also remain available for charging future cases, where the crime was committed before the law changed but within the statute of limitations. This manual contains only those templates for criminal offenses in effect on the publication date. For crimes subject to charging under a previous statute and/or template, deputies and clerical users will need to consult the full database in Lotus Notes.

"Effective Date" refers to the first date that the template is effective to charge a crime. It does not refer to the date that a statute is effective. For example, while Proposition 47 took effect on November 5, 2014, the charges established by the various provisions of that initiative are effective retroactively, and, therefore, have an effective date of January 1, 1900, which is "Day One" for PIMS. PIMS will only allow the use of charging templates which are active at the time of the offense. This prevents deputies from using the wrong template, and thus charging the wrong crime.

Offenses vs. Allegations

A crime, or substantive offense, is labelled as an "offense" in the PIMS UCC Templates database. A sentence enhancement is labelled as an "allegation". The use of the label "special allegation" has been discontinued to avoid confusion with special circumstances.

For convenience, some allegations have been "auto attached" to more frequently used charges in the offense section of the UCC Manual. When an allegation is "auto-attached" to an offense, it will automatically generate in PIMS and does not need to be entered into the system by the user. The allegation can be accessed by clicking on the "Allegations" tab once the form number for the offense containing the "auto-attached" allegation is selected by the user. Variable text for the allegation can then be entered simply by clicking on the allegation.

Forms

Most criminal offenses under California law can be identified by separate and individual code section numbers. As a result, the majority of charges in the UCC Templates database have a single form and are labeled as "Form 0" for that offense. Some crimes require multiple forms to handle each variation of the crime. These charges are numbered sequentially beginning with the number "1".

Offenses which can be charged as either a felony or a misdemeanor, pursuant to Penal Code Section 17(b)(4), are designated in the offense level with "F/M". Form R variations of a felony charge have been eliminated from the UCC. Misdemeanor versions of a felony offense should be filed by clicking on the "17B4" box in PIMS.

INTRODUCTION

"Form 47" has been used to identify charges elevated to a felony due to a prior conviction specified by Proposition 47. These are the prior convictions that exclude a person from the benefits of Proposition 47.

For all of these "Form 47" offenses, an allegation has been auto-attached to the offense referencing the punishment section that elevates the misdemeanor crime to a felony.

Charge Text Tags and Notice Paragraphs

When creating the charging paragraph document, the PIMS document generation program uses text tags from a charging template to insert specific predetermined text, such as the word "defendant" or "minor", or to prompt for certain information to be entered, such as "Enter the description of property stolen". Many text tags create dialog boxes within the document generation program, which guide the deputy or clerical user to provide the needed information to complete the creation of the charging document. The following text tags are used by PIMS and appear in the Charging Language field of charging templates.

- <ATT> will insert "attempt to", if box labelled "Attempted" is checked in Complaint Charge Detail dialog box

21. Repeat 14-20 for any additional allegations, then click Return to exit.

Future Changes to the PIMS UCC Templates Database

Future UCC publications will continue to focus on making the document less voluminous by eliminating unnecessary variations of charges and providing a simplified method of charging that includes a consistent and accurate table of charges and allegations.
